Windows XP Compatibility

Since the release of Engineering Assistant (EngAsst) v2.5.0.0, there have been a few questions concerning PENNDOT Engineering Software's compatibility with Windows XP. EngAsst v2.5.0.0 no longer lists Windows XP as a supported platform and, in fact, EngAsst v2.5.0.0 and the next releases of the PennDOT Engineering Programs will not run on Windows XP.

On April 8, 2014, Microsoft officially discontinued support of Windows XP, meaning they will no longer provide security updates and bug fixes. Consequently, it was decided that Windows XP would no longer be included in the list of supported platforms for subsequent releases of all PENNDOT Engineering Software and Windows XP compatibility will no longer be verified.
